BOSCH

By rail

The railway company ÖBB (Österreichische Bundesbahnen) offers hourly services of modern InterCity and EuroCity trains on the main routes between Vienna and Linz, Salzburg, Graz and the district of Carinthia. There are frequent connections between the major cities and international destinations like Budapest, Bratislava, Ljubljana, Venice, Basel, Prague and Munich. Up-to-date information on local transportation, schedules and prices is available at www.oebb.at

By air – Vienna airport

Taxis are available from outside the terminal. Alternatively, you can take the regional bus (Postbus) that connects Vienna airport with the main transport hubs. More information about regional buses is available at www.postbus.at. You may also choose to travel by CAT (City Airport Train). It takes just 16 minutes to get from the airport to central Vienna and back.

By car

Parking spaces are available for our visitors and customers.
